

Pain Interview Techniques – QL

Course Description: This module is a comprehensive guide to performing patient interviews. It presents efficient and effective interview and communication skills, to both gather patient information and build rapport.

Course Objectives:

- Discuss methods and communication skills for gathering information from patients during physical-assessment interviews
- Describe the importance of building rapport with patients